

Partnership finishes landscaping

The Greater Hazleton Area Civic Partnership's (GHACP) Gateway Committee sponsored a weeding & mulching work effort this past Saturday.

The mulch beds located at the "Welcome to Greater Hazleton" signs at the intersection of Route 924 and Route 93 and Route 309 and 424 were re-mulched with the help of the Hazleteens, who are part of the Greater Hazleton Volunteer Center.

Under the leadership of Elaine Judd, co-chair of the Gateway Committee, the Hazleteens completed this weeding and mulching effort in record time.

This early summer mulching effort was needed because of the influx of weeds and crown vetch in these planted areas that welcome visitors and residents to our area.

The Hazleteens are a welcome addition to the volunteers of the various GHACP committees who freely donate their time to community improvement projects.

The following Hazleteens took part in this effort: Stephanie Cusatis, Elizabeth Goode, Allison McNulty, Allison Conlin, Kim Stamatopoulos, and Jessica Butler.
